

Division J

District 33

---

C. Wayne Sebera, DTM

As Director for Division J, I want to give back in service and appreciation what I have learned and benefited through my Toastmasters experience. As all members work to achieve their goals, I will provide leadership and support for a successful year for all Members and Clubs. I am looking forward to a fun-filled year with superb accomplishments across the organization.

My qualifications include Distinguished Toastmaster, Area Governor of the Year, and Lt. Governor of Education and Training for District 52 (over 100 Toastmaster clubs). I have held all seven of the elective club office positions. As a guest speaker at local organizations and churches, I have organized numerous events featuring presentations and panels. I have presented over 1000 speeches, workshops, and leadership institutes in many diverse subjects and settings.

Originally from San Antonio and the University of Texas, I am now a "naturalized" Californian. I provide life leadership training, coaching, and counseling based on my personal experience. As Vice President of two major corporations, I managed very large high technology and engineering organizations providing development of products, systems, information services, and customer support. As entrepreneur, I founded a company for management consulting, training, and organizational development. As minister and founder of a spiritual center, I taught metaphysical principles and practices via lectures, classes, and workshops.

Academically, I taught at University of Southern California graduate school of systems management and was a certified trainer for the national Software Engineering Institute. I hold master's degrees in both Engineering (MS) and Psychology (MA), with post graduate work in executive management and finance at Harvard and Wharton, respectively.

My wife Andrea and I live in Somis California and raise champion Mini-Schnauzers.
